

ADVOCATE 1970

Needham High School

Needham, Massachusetts

ADVOCATE 1970 is an attempt to translate into verbal and visual language one year at Needham High School. The students of Needham High School are the center of the book. But the students are influenced not only by their contacts with each other: they are influenced as well by the faculty, the administration and the town itself. Although the events of one year are similar to the events of other years, the way in which they have been experienced by each student is unique. THE ADVOCATE has tried to capture as accurately as possible the year 1969-1970 as it was lived by the students, recognizing the complexity and variety of its experience.

Needham High School must provide each student with the opportunity to acquire and develop attitudes and abilities which will enable him to participate most effectively in and contribute most productively to his world.

Program of Studies, 1969-1970

The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds . . .

Anatole France

From the very beginning of his education the [student] should experience the joy of discovery.
A. N. Whitehead

Youth is not defined by years but by the creative impulse to make something.

A. N. Whitehead

A task without a vision is drudgery.
Anonymous

It is nothing but work, work, work.
Henry David Thoreau

Cannot the heart in the midst of crowds feel frightfully alone?

Charles Lamb

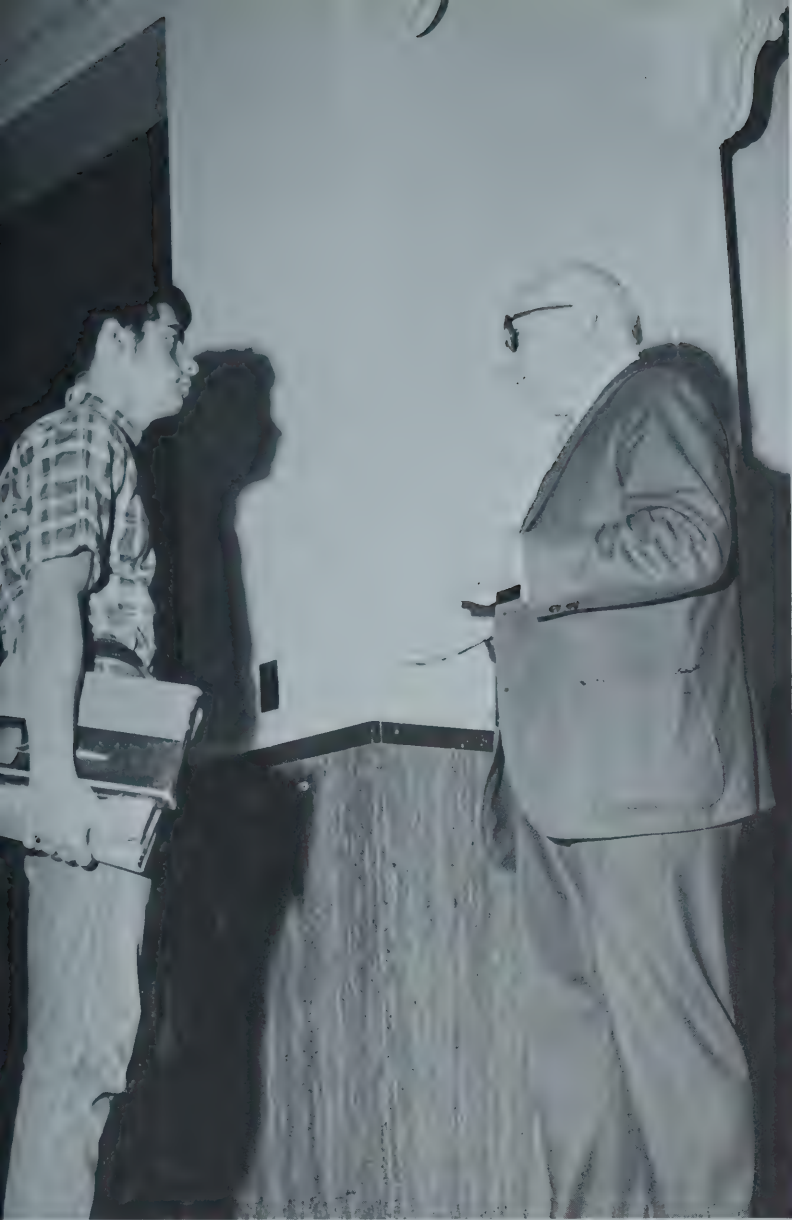

Discovery is not answering the questions but questioning the answers.

Anonymous

He must use all his powers to find union with the world . . .

Erich Fromm

Learning and living are inseparable, and all education is self-education.

Anonymous

Fellowship in joy, not sympathy in sorrow, is what makes friends.

F.W. Nietzsche

Happiness . . . means being interested in life; . . . or responding to life not just with one's brain but with one's whole personality.
